

MALTE HAUGE
Visual Designer

SHORT BIO

Updated 24th of January 2020

Malte Hauge started doing lights and live visuals at the age of 15, beginning in the live concert scene of Odense, Denmark. Since then, he has designed, programmed and operated hundreds of different shows, ranging from theatrical productions, concerts, exhibitions, installations and live events in general.

Starting out of technical interest, he's since grown to mainly focus on the interpretation and design part of shows, but can't really let go of the nerdy and practical side of things.

In late 2019, he and Raphael Solholm, co-created the scenography, lighting and video design for the first ever theatrical version of "Egenmäktigt Förfarande", based on the hit novel by Lena Andersson, at Helsingborgs Stadsteater. The rights for this production has since been bought for live broadcast by Swedish SVT.

He's currently interested in shortening the gap between concerts and theater, combining elements from each genre and merging them for the better of both. This is to be seen in upcoming designs for live tours of Danish artists Lydmor, GENTS and Ecstasy In Order, as well as a handfull of theatrical productions, mainly in and surrounding Copenhagen.
